

<https://excelsoftsources.com/careers/devops-engineer/>

DevOps Engineer

Description

As a Lead DevOps / Site Reliability Engineer, you will be supporting production and development environments, from creating new and improving existing tools and processes to automating deployment and monitoring procedures, leading continuous integration effort, administering source control systems, deploying and maintaining production infrastructure and applications.

Responsibilities

- Design and implementation of monitoring strategies.
- Improving reliability, stability, and performance of production systems.
- Leading automation of engineering and operations processes.
- Systems administration and management of production, pre-production, and test environments.
- Design and optimization of CI/CD pipelines.
- Maintenance and administration of source control systems.
- On-call support of production systems.

Qualifications

- 7+ years of experience as an SRE, DevOps, or TechOps Engineer.
 - 5+ years of tools development or automation using Python, Perl, Java, or Go .
- 3+ years of containerization and orchestration experience.
- Solid experience in managing production environments in a public cloud, AWS preferred.
 - Proficiency in Linux system administration.
- Experience with monitoring and observability tools: Prometheus, Loki, Grafana.
- Experience with at least two of the following: Puppet, Salt, Ansible, Terraform.
- Experience in setting up and supporting CI/CD pipelines.

Hiring organization

Excel SoftSources

Employment Type

Full-time

Industry

Technology

Job Location

Costa Rica

Remote work possible

Date posted

November 29, 2023